What is AmCham Taiwan?

Extensive membership is the Chamber’s greatest asset. The knowledge and expertise of this vast resource is tapped through a variety of interactive forums. AmCham, for example, coordinates the activities of 25 working Committees that convene on a monthly basis to address advocacy issues and provide opportunities for professional and business development.

Committee members collaborate on formulating annual position papers, used for communicating industry concerns to relevant government agencies. The position papers are also valuable advocacy tools for AmCham’s annual CEO Mission to Washington. On that trip each year, an AmCham delegation meets with senior officials in the U.S. Administration and on Capitol Hill, as well as think tanks, scholars, and industry associations to discuss international business concerns about U.S.-Taiwan trade and commerce. All members are invited and encouraged to participate in this crucial dialogue.

While AmCham serves the broader interests of international business, Chamber membership is also an important means of personal integration into life and business in Taiwan. Every month, the Chamber offers a variety of luncheon and breakfast meetings and seminars on subjects of particular interest to our membership.

Speakers regularly include world-renowned economists and politicians, industry leaders, and academic experts. More importantly perhaps, these events provide the opportunity for meaningful interaction among AmCham members and a basis for broadening contacts within Taiwan’s business community.

AmCham is also an important information clearinghouse that provides an insider’s perspective on Taiwan’s marketplace. The Chamber’s monthly publication, Taiwan Business TOPICS, includes year-round business reporting and policy analysis in support of advocacy issues raised by the Chamber. TOPICS speaks with collective authority on the business climate in Taiwan, and is read by executives, government officials, the media, and academics. The magazine enjoys wide distribution throughout the United States and Taiwan. The annual Taiwan White Paper is included in the June issue of TOPICS.

Much of the real work of the Chamber occurs at the committee level and many of AmCham’s successes in lobbying for an improved business environment can be traced to these groups. AmCham Taiwan is comprised of 25 committees that represent and promote the specific interests of their fields of business. Each industry committee creates a Position Paper, included in the annual Taiwan White Paper, which is presented to the government and the public as a summary of the current business climate in Taiwan for each specific field. Committees also organize and host regular breakfast/luncheon events to keep members abreast of the latest industry trends and information.

AmCham Committees

Agro-Chemical
The Agro-chemical Committee addresses pesticide industry issues including the correct usage of agro-chemicals, disposal of waste containers and other environmental concerns. The Committee monitors intellectual property areas such as patent law and product registration, as well as trends in Taiwan agriculture. The committee also maintains a dialogue with authorities on issues related to agro-chemical applications in Taiwan.

Asset Management
The Asset Management Committee communicates with the government on regulatory issues affecting companies offering either international or domestically based funds as vehicles for Taiwan investors.

Banking
The Banking Committee represents the common interests of the foreign banking community as these relate to the development of a mature and sound financial services industry and its related markets. The Committee maintains a proactive posture with banking regulators on behalf of its members with the objective of accelerating progress toward financial liberalization.

Capital Markets
The Capital Markets Committee works toward the overall goal of meaningful and viable capital markets in Taiwan and addresses various specific regulatory, policy, and other issues relevant to the overall financial services industry. Committee members include users and suppliers of capital, as well as a broad cross-section of the financial services industry.

Chemical Manufacturers
The Committee’s mission is to build a safe, sound, and credible environment for Taiwan’s chemical industry, as perceived by our critical stakeholders: local communities, local and central governments, and multinational corporations. Current priorities are to invest heavily in the success of the Taiwan Responsible Care Association, an international association comprised of 60 member companies, and to develop increasing regulatory and legislative transparency through active dialogue with government agencies.

Cosmetics
The Cosmetics Committee’s mission is to foster a healthy business environment for cosmetic businesses and associated industries in Taiwan. The Committee’s members include cosmetic suppliers and associated businesses, including manufacturers, importers, retailers, and raw materials suppliers, among others.

Defense
The Defense Committee is committed to the Taiwan Relations Act (TRA), and ensuring Taiwan’s role in regional security and stability. The Committee provides a platform for the discussion of issues and policies related to national security.

Digital Economy
The Digital Economy Committee addresses topics relevant to the underlying technology enabling this activity, as well as regulatory issues affecting the Digital Economy and its intersection with other economic sectors.

Energy
This committee has a broad membership base, encompassing energy users, producers, and other related industry players, and provides a balanced platform for the discussion and resolution of energy-related issues in Taiwan. The committee aims to help Taiwan preserve and further enhance its competitiveness in advancing both energy consuming and producing industries.

Human Resources
The Human Resources Committee provides an objective forum for member firms to communicate and exchange information about labor issues, including tracking evolving regulations, so that prudent human resource goals may be achieved. The Committee also pushes for a more liberalized and internationalized human resources market and regulations in Taiwan.

Infrastructure & Engineering
The Infrastructure & Engineering Committee focuses on creating a fair and competitive market for international firms involved in meeting Taiwan’s construction and energy needs. Membership includes engineers, contractors, architects, developers, material suppliers, and related consultants in the technical, legal, and financial sectors. Current efforts are focused on opening the Taiwan market in the manner prescribed by the WTO.

Insurance
The Insurance Committee represents the interests of a wide variety of insurance and insurance-related companies. The Committee works with foreign and domestic regulators with the goal of modernizing and liberalizing the local insurance market and the corresponding regulatory framework.

Intellectual Property & Licensing
The Intellectual Property & Licensing Committee coordinates U.S. and Taiwan efforts to achieve protective legislation and effective enforcement in the area of intellectual property rights. The Committee encourages Taiwan’s acceptance into the international community through its IPR protection.

Marketing & Distribution
The Marketing & Distribution Committee provides a forum for the marketing community to share best practices and to resolve business issues for the mutual benefit of its members.

Medical Devices
The Medical Devices Committee provides a forum for medical equipment manufacturers to respond to the National Health Insurance Law and its ramifications for the industry. The Committee assesses issues of product certification, reimbursement pricing, and regulatory structure of the Department of Health.

Pharmaceutical
The Pharmaceutical Committee monitors, and whenever possible, influences regulatory development relating to pharmaceutical patents, trademarks, and copyright, and disseminates information to the research-based pharmaceutical industry. The Committee undertakes projects designed to influence and shape government policy on regulatory matters affecting the pharmaceutical industry and maintains contacts with a wide variety of individuals involved in the health care industry.

Private Equity
This committee helps members promote a positive image and build sector awareness, both to Taiwan government and general public. It will provide an effective platform to advocate regulatory issues and identify business opportunities in Taiwan. The group will work with local associations when the positions are aligned.

Public Health
The Public Health Committee’s main goals include prolonging life and improving population health and safety. It aims to enhance healthcare efficiency and health economics and provides a platform for industry and government agencies to foster and shape health policy and initiatives that encompass disease prevention, healthcare management, epidemiology, preventive medicine, environmental health, and occupational health.

Retail
The Retail Committee was formed recently by well-known global players in the retail and FMCG (Fast Moving Consumer Goods) sectors. The Committee aims to promote the adoption of fair and reasonable regulations in order to enhance the overall retail business environment in Taiwan.

Sustainable Development Goals
The Committee incorporates the former Environmental Protection Committee, broadening its mandate to encompass such additional topics as energy-efficient solutions, renewable energy, and green building standards. Establishment of the Committee reflects domestic and global concerns with ecological and climate-change issues, as well as other topics related to sustainable development.

Tax
The Tax Committee’s objectives are to keep members abreast of important changes in Taiwan and U.S. tax laws, to improve the taxation environment for American companies operating in Taiwan, and to seek the consistent treatment of all firms operating on the island. The Committee discusses pressing tax issues and engages in constructive dialogue with industry members and government agencies.

Technology
The Technology Committee serves its members by inviting key players from the fields of business, law, academia, and government to discuss the practical impact of technology on business. Technology providers and users describe how emerging products and services are revolutionizing their enterprises and creating new business opportunities. The Committee has a planned schedule of talks, which cover technology trends and issues that impact businesses in Taiwan and Asia.

Telecommunications & Media
The Telecommunications & Media Committee contributes to the continued development and enhancement of the quality of services and growth of the telecommunications and cable television environment in Taiwan.

Transportation & Logistics
The Transportation & Logistics Committee focuses on issues related to sea, air, and express transportation, as well as the freight forwarding, logistics management, and automotive businesses. The Committee works with all relevant government bodies to monitor and influence the passing of new laws and to modify existing ones to ensure that the interests of all transportation industries are represented.

Travel & Tourism
This committee explores business opportunities for its members in this sector, and seeks to cooperate with the government to promote Taiwan tourism. It will focus on such issues as development of the MICE industry, education and training, and marketing.
The Government & Public Affairs Department serves as the liaison between AmCham members and the Taiwan Government. It provides research, recommendations, and liaison coordination in support of Chamber-wide and Committee advocacy issues. It is also an important source of up-to-date information on government policies, legislation, and regulations for members, and offers valuable suggestions on how to overcome trade and investment barriers.

WHITE PAPER

One of the Department’s major annual projects is the annual Taiwan White Paper, a comprehensive bilingual report summarizing the Chamber’s recommendations on legislative, regulatory, and enforcement issues across business sectors that have a major impact on the quality of the business environment in Taiwan. The White Paper also provides suggestions on the adjustment of Taiwan’s overall economic and trade policies.

CEO MISSION TO WASHINGTON

Following the publication of the Taiwan White Paper, the Department participates actively in follow-up meetings with senior government officials of Taiwan and the United States, including the annual trip to Washington D.C. During the trip, an AmCham delegation meets with U.S. government officials, members of Congress, think tanks, and others with a vested interest in U.S.-Taiwan economic relations to help facilitate the Chamber’s Advocacy efforts.

MEETINGS & BRIEFINGS

The Department also organizes and participates in regular visits to the executive branches of the Taiwan government to keep abreast of government-related issues and laws of concern to the membership and to express members’ concerns on government policies. In addition, as the Chamber has been regarded as a reliable source of information about the political, economic, and business climate of Taiwan, the Department organizes and participates in briefings for academics, think tanks, U.S. government visitors, Congressmen and congressional staffers, and political and economic analysts from overseas.

ADVOCACY

The Department is the media contact window for the Chamber. It assists in media interview coordination for the Chamber’s leadership, provides advice/prepares media talking points, maintains media relations and conducts media outreach to further the Chamber’s advocacy efforts. The Department plays a key role in the preparation of the Chamber’s advocacy messages in the TOPICS Editorial, Advertorial, and Issues stories, where important issues of concern to members are reported and their development monitored.
AmCham’s Events Department organizes and plans various events throughout the year to provide its members with many different kinds of opportunities to further their business interests. The Department coordinates luncheons, committee meetings, and other special events (roughly 200 per year) to provide members with business information, as well as opportunities to enhance their professional networking and personal development. These events help members maintain regular contact with each other and give them a chance to mingle in relaxed and enjoyable venues.

Event categories include:
- Chamber-wide / Special Presentations
- Committee Meetings
- Workshops and Seminars
- Special Field Trips
- Leadership Meetings / Briefings (members-only)
- Happy Hour / Cocktails

AmCham Publications

Taiwan Business TOPICS is a monthly magazine that is distributed in Taiwan, the United States, and the Asia-Pacific region. The highly-acclaimed bilingual publication is filled with comprehensive articles on topics ranging from commercial and political issues to entertainment and living in Taiwan. Cover stories feature subjects on developments in cross-Strait business relations, the progress of major infrastructure projects, and the government’s efforts to carry out financial reform and promote new industries.

The magazine includes opinion and insights from well-respected figures in the international community, as well as coverage of issues that are being addressed by the Chamber’s various committees. The readership is approximately 14,000.

Taiwan Business TOPICS

Special Issues

Taiwan White Paper

The June issue includes the annual Taiwan White Paper, an assessment of Taiwan’s business climate at both the macro level and sector by sector.

The paper summarizes AmCham’s recommendations to the government and public on legislative, regulatory, and enforcement issues that have a major impact on the quality of the business environment.

The White Paper is the most important tool that AmCham members use to communicate with the Taiwan government, and is used all year long.

Wine & Dine

This special issue is published annually in January and celebrates Taiwan’s ongoing tradition of enjoying good food and drink. Articles include these areas:

- New restaurants
